18 Chosen for Grand Jury in Red Inquiry

Supreme Court convoked by Governor in Special Sessions. Smith to investigate acts of criminal placed at the disposal of the assistant district attorneys.

It is understood the grand jury will first consider the evidence against the four Finns arrested on a charge of criminal anarchy in a raid early Friday morning last at 864 Caldwell Avenue, The Bronx. The Federal government had been on the trail of these men for eight months and their arrest is regarded as of great importance.

The first man tentatively selected as a grand juror was Julius Buchman, of 39 West Eighty-fifth Street, a cotton goods merchant at 112 Prince Street. The next was J. Samuel Smoot, of 216, West Eighty-ninth Street, one of the executive officers and a director of Burns Brothers, coal dealers. Mr. Buchman employs about 200 persons, and Mr. Smoot says his company employs about 2,500.

Mr. Tailey asked each prospective juror if he entertained ideas inimical to the American form of government, or if he belonged to any organization entertaining such views. After Mr. Tailey had accepted two or three jurymen tentatively, he told Justice Weeks he would exercise the right of the people, under the code of criminal procedure, to challenge each prospective juror.

Men Accused of Attacking Government Granted Writs

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—Two men charged with statements disloyal to state and nation were granted writs of habeas corpus by Justice Swayze, of the Supreme Court, to-day. Albert Semeck said he has been confined illegally in the Essex County jail by the excessive bail required, $10,000.

The other, William Rosenbaum, of Perth Amboy, is in jail at New Brunswick. He was arrested first on June 24 while agitating at the Guggenheim Smelting and Refining Company. He was acquitted August 5, but was rearrested on other charges.

MRTHUR REID revolted yesterday at the lean existence of an artist and left his studio, at 273 West Eleventh Street, to look for work. By the time he had reached 145th Street almost any kind of a job had a prosperious look and he strolled into Hop Lee's laundry at 319 West 145th Street. Hop Lee was not in sight, but his cash drawer was and it was partly open.

When Hop Lee shuffled in a man, whom he later identified as Reid, was withdrawing a hand from the cash drawer. The intruder departed in haste, keeping about six feet ahead of a hot iron which Hop Lee flung. By the time the iron hit the sidewalk Hop Lee was in hot pursuit of the thief and Reid was sprinting at a pace that he had deemed far beyond his condition of emaciation and despair.

He ran into the arms of a policeman who found on his person $6.80 that Hop Lee said was his. In Harlem police court Reid was held for trial in Special Sessions.

Smith to investigate acts of criminal anarchy in New York City, told the first eighteen men who qualified for grand jury service that they were being selected for a great public duty requiring their best citizenship, highest intelligence and loyal belief in American institutions.

The men qualified after sharp interrogations by Alfred J. Talley and Alexander I. Rorke, assistant districts attorney assigned to handle the cases. The panel summoned was exhausted without obtaining the necessary twenty-three, and the work of completing the grand jury will go on this morning.

This is the first attempted prosecution for criminal anarchy in this state, it is said, since the law defining this offence was passed in 1902, following the assassination of President McKinley.

Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, Chief of Surveys of U.S. Relief Organization, Shows How Britain Took to Cercals

Our Food Saved Europe

Half of American Exports Went to Germany, Aiding Downfall of Reds

Until the national appetite takes a trend toward vegetarianism there is scant likelihood of marked reduction in living costs before the war-disturbed international food balance is readjusted, according to Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, chief of surveys of the American Relief Administration. Dr. Taylor returned from Europe Saturday.

Beef-eating Britain has discovered this, said Dr. Taylor yesterday, and in consequence the English meat ration has been reduced from half to one-third of the total of food consumed and the consumption of cereals has risen correspondingly. In the United States the figures are just reversed. Our diet is two-thirds meat and one-third cereals.

"America, "said Dr. Taylor" has not yet reacted toward the high cost of living as the nation will react. Take bread. There are no indications that we have begun to eat more bread than before the war and the advent of high prices." readjusted, according to Dr. Alonzo E.

In commenting on the task before the authorities, Assistant District Attorney Rorke said:

"If we can obtain competent evidence to support the charges that we are now investigating upon reports made by the police and special agents, I predict that the work of this grand jury will be historic. The work of the Lusk committee has provided a mass of information that will be helpful in the investigation, but in considering the matter turned over to us by the Lusk committee this must be kept in view, that while hearsay evidence is competent before a legislative committee, it is not before a grand jury.
